An alleged case of inhumanity exerised by a parent toward his child has been uncarthed at Troy Grove, Ill., which if substantiated, must stand quite without a parallel. Fourteen years ago (according to a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune) a wealthy farmer in the above named village married a second of the control of the ond wife, and sent several children by a former helpmost into the world to get their living as best they could. One child was retained, a pretty little girl, too young to be thrown on her own resources, but she became so obnoxious to her step-mother that she was sent to a chool kept by Sisters of Charity. After an absence of several years she returned home, but soon rebelled against the harsh treatment of its inmates, and at tempted to return to the school she had left. Her father followed and captured her, shut her in a little room with no furniture, stripped her of every article of clothing, and gave an army blanket for covering, fed her through a hole in the door, and kept her a prisoner for fourteen years! Both the father and step-mother are now dead, and the girl has been taken in charge by the commissioner of lunacy-for her reason naturally fled long ago. Her body is scarcely larger than that of a child six or cight years old. She refuses to keep any clothing on her, and crouches in a corner of the room constantly, never ut tering a sound, and showing no anima-tion except when food is brought to her. There are some sensational features about the story which is not worth while to repeat, but if its main incidents are true, it will be hard to find its match in all the annals of parental cruelty.

Country Negro vs. Town Negro.

An eternal warfare seems to rage beween the country negro and the town darkey. This was illustrated at the passenger depot yesterday. A colored youth from Pike county approached a town negro, and the following conversation ensued:

"Whar bouts is de ticket office?" "Right dar To yo' eyes."

"Fo' whose eyes?" ·Young. "Is you de ticket office?"

"Look yer, nigger, don't you gimme

"I'm a mighty slack man, ole man, we'n I gets stirred up." "An you'll get stirred up of you stan roun' yer foolin' longer me.' "Dat's de kinder ex'eise wa't l'm pinin' fer.'

And with that they clinched and had a right lively tussle. They were separated, however, before a policeman came along, and the Pike county negro found the ticket office. The town negro, it may be well to mention, was badly used

THE TOWNSHIP TICKET.

In Saturday's paper we published the proceedings of the Republican township Convention, but had no time to speak of the ticket nominated. It is entirely within the Lounds of reason to say that a more unexceptionable ticket was never presented by any political party. Every candidate on the ticket possesses a special adaptation to the duties of the position for which he was nominated. Mr. Chambers served the people two years as Mayor of Decatur, and we never had a better one. He is peculiarly fitted for the office of supervisor, being a man of rare executive ability. Mr. Rogers and Mr. Hughes have both had experience in the board of supervisors, and both are good, practical business men who will exert a large influence among the other members. Capt. Fos. ter has held the office of collector three years, and has shown himself to be emphatically the right man in the right place. Fred Smith has made a good assessor in the past, and will do better than ever this time. George P. Hardy 14 without a superior as town clerk. Chas. M. Caldwell has as good in practical knowledge of roads as any man in the county, and will make a splendid commissioner. Jason Kitchen is a onearmed man, deserving the sympathies

The ticket is one that every voter can cheerfully support, and that it will be triumphantly elected there, is not a particle of doubt.

The only military force that can be constitutionally employed to execute the laws of the Union and suppress in surrection is the militia. And there is no limitation of two years, or any othertime, to the appropriations of money which Congress may make in the exercise of its power to provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia. It was contemplated that the militiawould be a permanent force. The militia is the standing army of the Constitution. The occasion for calling it into the field comprehended every possible use of an army in the Republic; to give effect to the laws, to suppress political rebellion and riotous insurree tion, to repel invasion of our territory, or other form of war on our citizens and our authority. What need is there of any other force? Any other army than they recovered power after Republicans this is contradictory to the principles on had provided for a registry. FRAUDULENT ELECTIONS. Democrats Opposed to all Restraints on Corrupt Voting.

The extra session of Congress has one mission. It was forced upon the President and the country by the dem-ocrats, and they chulded wiser than they knew." They control both Houses pon them rests the whole responsibility of the Government, excepting that hare which the Constitution has vested in the Executive. And the mission of this otherwise unnecessary assemblage of Congress is to show the country that the Democratic party does not dare to face a fair and honest vote of the people; that it is determined to open the doors to fraud, so that the next Presidential election may be decided by re-peating, by stuffing ballot-boxes, by use of fraudident certificates of citizenship, and by false returns; and that it is ready to break up the Government, stop its operations, and deprive the country of its benefits, unless permitted to control it by fraud.

alone. The facts have been established by Congressional investigation, and the his friends consented to abandon the report of the committee on that subject, with the evidence then taken, will form an admirable document for the republican party to reprint and circulate, if] the democratic party does not back down from the purpose it has avowed. Fraudulent naturalization papers, many thousands in number, were issued to democrats, gangs of repeaters, hired and directed by democrats, went from poll to poll; and even then the honest republican votes of other counties had not been evercome. A secret circular, bearing the name of Mr. Tilden, chairman of the democratic state committee, in law, Mr. Burbank, was directed to had been sent out to trusted democrats in every part of the state. By that circular these men were directed to telegraph the majorities in every district, as soon as the polls closed, to Mr. Tweed, the Boss of the Tammany Ring] in this city. The counting and return of votes in heavy Democratic wards was seemed atraid of these cipher telegrams, held back until these returns from the country warned Mr. Tweed what were the honest Republican majorities to be overcome. Then returns of Democratic majorities were manufactured to order, large enough to defeat the will of the majority of the people of this state. The work was done in the most bungling manner, and the frauds were palpable. But the immediate end was reached. The people were robbed of their rights, and Tammany captured the

After this famous deed had been thoroughly exposed Congress passed the Election law, which it is now proposed to repeal. The object of that law was to protect the people, not of this state, but of the whole United States, from debauchment, capture, and virtual overthrow of their self-government, by means of similar frauds in the larger cities. The law does not assume to exercise any restraint whatever over elections for state or local offices. If the people the batch known as the Tribune disof any state are content to be robbed patches, the history of which is known by the political knaves of its chief city, or cannot help themselves, this law does not undertake to give them any elections in its own way. But it pro-vides that all elections of Presidential Electors and members of Congress, and at such elections only, officials of the G. Bullock, of Virginia. Four of the | United States shall be present to supervise the casting and counting of the votes, and shall have certain limited powers to prevent fraud. In consequence of this law, the Democratic party in this city has never been able to repeat the frauds of 1868. Under that | was sorry, but that it was no more than paper feeling free to affirm that me law, repeaters have been stopped or he had expected, as she was alway gallaw, repeaters have been stopped or he had expected, as she was alway gallaw, honesty, or would sustain the Presidential honor against Congressional dictation with greater tenseity.

Enough Electoral votes to turn the scale in almost any contested Presidential election can be stolen by the Democratic party, if it can get rid of the United States law which was enacted after the people of New York had been robbed by Tweedism in 1868.

It is no new thing for the Democratic party to seek success by Iraud. Every attempt to secure a more fair and honest expression of the popular will has alwas been resisted by that party as a restraint upon the liberty of the citizen. The registration of voters was thus resisted by Democrats everywhere, and demonsted with unmeasured bitterness, and the repeal of such laws was attempted by that party in every state where or defended the perpetrators of fraud in their interest, and stubbornly resisted every effort to restrain or punish them. It is very fitting that the party which tried to get the Presidency in 1876 by bribing canvassers and Electors should now propose to stop the Government altogether unless permitted to steal the Presidency. And it is peculiarly fitting. if Mr. Tilden is to be the candidate of

THOSE CIPHERS.

How they Made Hayes President, and haw Erans' Letter got out.

Disputch to Cincinnati Enquirer (Dett.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—The Evans-Potter letter, telegraphed from Indianapolis, creates some comment, as by it Evans assumes several things which he could explain, and he also states that he made a full and frank explanation of how the cipher telegrams came in his possession. He did not. The facts of that transaction are these: The cipher telegrams were selected by the Morton Committee because they were not understood, it being the intention to place the parties receiving and, as far as known, those sending them upon the stand, and compelling an exposition of their meaning. Mr. Hewitt and others, knowing their contents, and In 1868 much more than 15,000 | fearing the seandal which would follow, consented to the Electoral Commission and upon this agreement Morton and investigation. The existence of these telegrams made Hayes President. For, if they had not been found, the Democratic managers would not have consented to the passage of the Electoral Commission bill. Tilden lost the Presidency through the acts of his would-be friends and the National Democratic Committee, by allowing the adoption and use of a cipher; and yet Mr. Tilden was ignorant of the uses to which it had been put. After the agreement of the Potter Committee, Senator Morton's brotherpack up all the telegrams and return them to New York, Burbank was inflated with his own consequence, and ordered Bullock to do it. Bullock, who lived with Congressman Evans, and who is a sharp fellow in some things, said to Evans that he thought the Democrats and that it might be a good thing to save them. Evans replied by telling a story which ended with the expression, "They would be handy to have around the house if they should be wanted." Bullock took his one from this and locked them up in a desk. There they remained until the adjournment of the appointment of Bullock as Consul, Evans at 910 E street, and laid them on the table, with the remark "There are some papers, Mr. Evans, which may should need them." Mr. Evans knew what they were, and placed them in his desk, and, when Congress adjourned, took them to his home in Indiana, where he kept them until last spring. In looking over them he found that many had been sent from his own State, Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois, and these he laid aside, but took to Washington after that time. Those sent from the Western States are either in his nos-session or that of Gen. T. J. Brady. The Bullock letter got out in a way that Mr. Evans understands. In the house where he boarded lived an Indiana woman, who was employed at the instance of Evans in the Patent-Office. She was the daughter of his landludy, and had access to his sittingroom, which was the family parlor. Bullock knew her well. In the course of mutual correspondence. Evans wrote to Hullock that this woman had lost her place, and Bullock replied that he 1878. Evans received a telegram informbrother in Indiana. He left all of his table, and among them the one which he accuses Potter of stealing. In a little while the ciphers came out, and with them, the query as to how they had been obtained. A man connected with the House restaurant was a caller at the house where Evans boarded, and was quite attentive to the young woman, who was then a widow. She it was who read these letters, got mad at the criticism on berself by Bullock, and then told her friend of the letter exposing the way in which the telegramreached the Tribone. The man told Potter, who demanded proof, and the letter itself was produced and copied, and the original placed on Evans table. These facts, if not known to Evans, should be, as he had every reason to suspect them, and did tell the woman that she ought to be interested in discovering how his letter got out. This closes the inside history of the ciphers and the Bullock letter. Brady has those bearing on a few of the Western States, and will no doubt make them public in 1880. It may be proper to say that all Republican telegrams of a nature calculated to impair the standing of any members of that party were removed and destroyed, so that no evidence of any such things is in existence.

Madrid, March 23 .- Senor Castellar and 103 former deputies of the Cortes have issued a manifesto to the Democratic party. They announce as their programme, a severe return to the constitution of 1869, which proclaimed religious and educational liberty, freedom of the press and liberty of meeting and association. The manifesto also declares in favor of universal suffrage, the inreactionary excesses and demagogic elections by fraud. With Mr. Tilden utopias.

INCREASE IN FREIGHT RATES.

WASHINGTON, March 22.-The comnittees of the House and Senate Democratic caucus to make recommendations concerning the order of business for the extra session, held a joint meeting today, which lasted five and a half hours. Senator Thurman presided. The first question discussed was whether the political legislation desired by the dominant party in Congress should be effected by the passage of a separate measure or by the incorporation of repealing clauses in appropriation bills. It was determined after discussion-13 against 5-the negative being two Senators and three Representatives, that the latter course would be the most expedient, especially for the reason that it seemed likely to save time, there being a gen-eral desire to finish the necessary business of the session at as early a day as possible.

The next question considered was whether the political portions of the appropriation bills should now be passed in the same terms in which they were passed at the last session, or whether the repealing clauses in regard to the Federal election laws should be modified so as to repeal only those seetions which authorize the appointment of chief supervisors and deputy marshals for elections, together with the sections conferring police powers on supervisors, continuing the authorization for the appointment of two supervisors of different politics to serve in a testimonial capacity at each poll as witnesses of the counting of votes.

After un exhaustive discussion, it was decided to recommend the adoption of a modified proposition. The vote was 14 ngainst 4-two Senators and two Representatives favoring a total repeal. The no house to undersell us P. O. Block. Congress during the vacation and until | joint meeting then authorized Senators Thurman, Salisbury, Bailey and Kernan, when he took them to the room of Mr. and Representatives Chalmers, Springer, Carlisle and Atkins, to formulate a provision in accordance with this decision in regard to the election laws, and also be handy around the house in case you provisions for the total repeal of the juror's test oath, and authorization of the presence of troops, for incorporation in the legislative, executive and judicial and army appropriation bill, together with such additional provisions as they may deem necessary to secure free and fair elections for Kepresentatives and delegates to Congress. They were also especially authorized to consider the propriety of framing a substitute for section 552, revised statute, which prescribes penalties for violation of the election laws.

Mr. Springer's proposition, to provide in addition to the repeal of the law concorning the presence of troops at the polls for the enactment of the existing statute of George I on that subject, was very favorably received, and the joint sub-committee will probably recommend its adoption.

The Joint sub-Committee will mee Monday, and expects to report to the Caucus Committee on Tuesday.

The meeting also considered whether the legislation of the present session should be strictly confined to the appropriation bills, including the measures appropriation bill. A decided majority favored restriction to the appropriation bills and the enactment of what is known as the "yellow fever bill." A small majority of the House Committee insisted that opportunities for transacting general business should be improved without, however, prolonging the session after the appropriation bills shall have been disposed of. It was finally decided to report the disagreement on this subject to a joint caucus and leave its set. tlement to a majority of the Democra tic members of both Houses, Cuicago, March 23.-It is estimated that fully 30,000 people attended the Communist celebration in the Exposition building last night, and several thousand were turned away unable to get in. The programme could not be carried out, owing to the great jam, and nothing was done except to listen to music by the band and a short speech from Dr. Schmidt, their candidate for Mayor, until after midnight, when the crowd began to thin out and dancing was begun and kept up until 6 o'clock this morning. Over 800 kegs of beer were drunk during the night, most of which was donated. The receipts of the celebration are estimated at $8,000, which after expenses are paid will be devoted to the publication of a Com munistic daily paper.

Madain, March 23 .- At a banquet given by the advocates of abolition of elavery, last night, it was resolved that a society for promoting the total disappearance of slavery from the Spanish colonies should be organized.

New York Tribune (Rep.) The Rebellion was a failure, it was one the less so for calling it a "War between the States." Mr. Davis is a failure; he is none the less so for being called "the ex-President of the Confederacy." There's no use in getting angry because Mr. Davis is expected to ask for a pardon before he gets it. Other people, just as proud and brave as he, have done it. There was nothing great in his administration of affairs during the Rebellion, all accounts agree that his escape from Richmond and capture by United States troops was decidedly unheroic; and since then he has been an ordinary person in the insurance business. This man cannot, at this period in his and the country's history, be, by any sort of process, made statuesque. The grandiloquent style in which the Southern newspapers talk about him no more fits him than the dress in which he was captured. It overcomes him, and makes both him and them ridicu-

THE NEW PASTOR AT STAPP'S CHAPEL -Yesterday Rev. G. W. Miller, the new pastor of Stapp's Chapel, entered upon his duties, preaching morning and evening. The morning discourse was devoted to a consideration of the call and responsibilities of a gospel minister. The work of the ministry, the speaker said, could not be chosen as a profession. The true minister must be called of God, as was Paul, and as were all the early preachers Beside the regular pastors the speaker recognized the work of evangelists as being of great help in the work of the church. The remonsibilities of the pas tor were spoken of in a feeling manner, and prayers of the congregation were in voked, to the end that Divine help might be continually vouchsafed to him in all his work, both in the pulpit and in his New goods sold at bottom prices. An Old and Righly Respected Citizen Laid to Rest—2,000 People in Attendance.

According to previous announcement, arday evening. the funeral of the late Samuel Rea, Esq. took place at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. D. P. Bunn, assisted by Rev. S. B. Hebberd. A little before 2 o'clock the hearse bearing the remains followed by long procession of carriages bearing relatives and friends, with J. D. Tait, J. R. Gorin, Michael Elson, Capt. J. S. Post, J. J. Peddecord, Hon. S. F. Greer, W. T. The casket containing the the body was borne to the front of the rostrum, followed by the widow and is in Nuples, having passed several weeks At a quarter past 2 o'clock the services were commenced by the singing of a vol. untary by a select choir, after which Rev. D. P. Bunn read the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians, and after the singing of a hymn prayer was offered by Rev. S. S. Hebberd, and following the prayer was the singing of another hymn, after which the officiating elergyman delivered an able discourse from the words of Paul as recorded in the 1st Cormthians, 15th chap. and 40th verse: "And as we have borne the image of the carthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly." The speaker said that a question which interested all was, "what has become of friends who have passed away from earth?" This question is answered in the chapter from which the text is selected; and as the speaker believed the final gathering of the entire human family in the presence of God, and to eternal rest and peace was here assured. In this world all are imperfeet-they bear the image of the earthly; in death the image of the earthly is dropped and the image of the heavenly put on. The ideas presented were ably claborated, and the views expressed fortified by abundant scripture quotations.

The discourse was concluded by the distinguishing characteristics were set forth in a touching manner.

Every function is deranged, every nerve unstrung, every musclo and fiber weakened by fever and ague. It is, in fact, a disease which if unchecked, even tually wrecks the system. In all its types, in every phase, it is dangerous, destructive. Stupor, delirium, convulsions often attend it, and cause swift dissolu tion. But when combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters its footbold in the system is dislodged, and every vestige of it eradicated. That benign anti-febrile anecific and preventive of the dreaded specific and preventive of the dreaded scourge is recognized not only within our own boundarles, but in tropic lands far beyond them, where intermittents and re-mittents are fearfully prevalent, to be a sure antidote to the malarish poison and a reliable means of overcoming disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, of which a vitisted tortid atmosphere and bracklish missma-tainted water are ex-tremely provocative. The Great Peanut Match. Roston Sunday Times The great peanut-cating match between A. Sniff and J. Junks for $5,000 a side came off at Swoony Hall yesterday. The conditions were, each con-testant to cat a quart of baked peanuts each quarter hour for forty-eight consecutive hours. The match was terribly exciting. Before each contestant was a table laden with quart measures full of the luscious fruit of the peanut tree. Sniff weighed ninety pounds at the start, and Junks eighty-six. Neither had caten anything for twenty-four hours, and both had voracious appetites. The first few quarts of peanuts went like snow before a July sun. The floor was soon strewn with shells. After cating four quarts Sniff took a short rest, but Junks kept on manfully. At the hour of going to press Sniff was visibly swelling, while Junks was cating away with apparently as good relish as when he began. At 2:30 p. m. the score stood: Sniff, 22 quarts; Junks, 22 quarts. The hall was thronged, and the excitement was intense. . Bots were freely made, $100 to $50, that Sniff will win. Junks' friends are confident.
